PROBE ALLEGED BABY MARKET

DIVORCE TESTIMONY SAYS WOMAN BOUGHT BABES FROM SOCIETY

Matron Denies Money Taken In Payment For Children

Cincinnati, Nov. 5.—Convinced that a baby market is flourishing between Cincinnati and Covington, Ky., authorities today began an investigation of charges by Thomas B. Samuels, railroad fireman, that his wife bought three babies from the Kenton County Humane Society, Covington.

Samuel is suing for divorce, charging his wife misrepresented the children as his. He told the story in domestic relations court here.

Mrs. Samuels, when questioned, said she bought the children from the society, the prices being regulated by the age of the infant. She said she paid $40 for one baby, $30 for another and $25 for a third. Denial that the children were sold was made by Mrs. Castle Mayer, probation officer of the society, who declared babies were released to Mrs. Samuels on probation.

"It is our custom to release unfortunate children to good families," Mrs. Mayer said. An inquiry showed Mrs. Samuels maintained a good home so I let her have an 8-months old boy named Earl, a girl named Viola and then a little boy named Tommie. No money was involved."

Viola died shortly after she was released to Mrs. Samuels, the probation officer said.

"I want a family and bought the children to fool my husband," Mrs. Samuels told the court. "I had heard of this woman (Mrs. Mayer) so I telephoned her and described what I wanted."

"I made an appointment with her and on three occasions—during a two year period—I bought a baby."

Hearing of Samuels' suit was discontinued pending a report of the grand jury which likewise has begun an inquiry.

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Katherine D. Thomas, Washington County clerk of courts was charged with diverting county funds to her own use in a report filed with State Auditor Tracy today by State Examiner J. E. Patterson.

"When the alleged shortage was presented to Mrs. Thomas she admitted she had used the funds to meet her personal obligations," the report declares.

"Mrs. Thomas has kept no records of the amount converted," the report continued, "but has deposited $3,000 to her official account making up the entire shortage."

DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST HOUSE OF DAVID HEADS DISMISSED BY COURT

Old Case Outlawed for Lack of Prosecution—Cult Wins Blackmail Suit When Defendant Settles Action For Six Cents.

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 5.—Two suits for $100,000 damages each, brought against Benjamin Purnell, fugitive "King" of the House of David, by Mrs. Ruth Bamford Reed and her sister Mrs. Gladys Bamford Rubel have been automatically dismissed in circuit court here.

Dismissal of the cases, it was learned today resulted from the fact that no action has been taken on them for more than a year.

They were filed three years ago by the two sisters, former members of the House of David who accused Purnell of seducing them while they were under age.

Dismissal of the suits followed by one day, the settlement of the cult's $100,000 blackmail suit against Jerome W. Robbins, attorney for former members of the colony.

St. Joseph, Mich., Nov. 5.—The House of David today stands technically vindicated on its $100,000 blackmail suit against Jerome W. Robbins, 79-year-old attorney of St. Joseph.

By agreement of jury and counsel a defense offer to make a settlement of six cents was accepted by the cult.

Robbins was accused of conspiring with the late James A. Pugh, former commodore of the Chicago Yacht club to extort $50,000 from the House of David by offering to quash adverse litigation in which the cult charged Robbins was serving as attorney for former members of the house.

Soon after the suit was filed Pugh died.

Settlement came after Judge Charles E. White threatened to direct a verdict of "no cause for action."

Previously he denied a defense motion to strike out testimony bearing on two conferences held by Robbins and Pugh with members of the cult at which the blackmail offer was alleged to have been made.

During the conference the cult maintained, it secreted a stenographer in an adjoining room and made a complete transcription of the testimony.

In accepting settlement counsel for Robbins explained it was mainly to escape expense of an appeal.

PROHIBITION FORCES RALLY IN CHICAGO TO BOLSTER DRY STAND

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The forces of prohibition convened in Chicago today in the greatest rally for temperance and sobriety in the history of the nation.

Approximately 5,000 crusaders for prohibition swept into the city from far and near to attend the twenty-second national convention of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

U. S. Senators, congressmen, governors, former governors, preachers, business men and prohibition enthusiasts from all walks of life, rubbed elbows in hotel lobbies and convention headquarters.

"The fight for prohibition has just begun. The eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are only the first steps. Our next battle is to perfect enforcement and promote observance. The flush of our first victory must not result in dropping the fight to the wets."

These were the slogans broadcast from convention headquarters. They were intended to convey the real purpose of the meeting.

A national enforcement plan and policy to weld churches and temperance people everywhere throughout the country into determined resistance to modification has been formulated by the League and will be announced at the present convention.

The League is fighting mad at the recent turn of events which have cast doubt on the success of prohibition and given encouragement to the modificationists. They blame the temperance workers of the country for a relaxation of vigilance as much as the aggressive efforts of brewers and other "wets" to reopen the liquor question in Congress.

Words will not be minced at the present meeting. Attendance of clergyman has been particularly solicited so that the fighting spirit may be instilled in them again and a crusading message given them to take back to their congregations.

Leaders of the League avow, and say that everyone ought to know, that the prohibition job in the United States is not completed. Prohibition has been on the statute books five years and its benefits are apparent, they say, but add that enforcement is not on the high level of achievement it must reach.

Necessity of reorganizing the federal prohibition forces, the apparent inability of all dry forces to cope with certain wet cities, publication of the prohibition report of the Federal Council of Churches which tended to bring the ultimate success of prohibition in doubt—all these are symptoms of a situation which requires the concerted attention and drastic action of prohibition's advocates in the League's opinion.

A five-day convention is scheduled

Activities today were on the order of preparation and organization, the first formal meeting occurring at 7:30 tonight when high officers of the League will outline the problem before the convention and sound the charge.

The speakers' list has been arranged with the view to giving the delegates a complete symposium of sentiment in government and business for prohibition, how the states are co-operating, what the political outlook for modification is what the churches should and can do, and in short, the facts—and nothing but facts—of the situation. The League is vigorously opposed to self-delusion.

Among the speakers are many prominent names. They include: Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Lincoln C. Andrews, director of prohibition enforcement; Admiral Frederick Billard, commandant of the Coast Guard; United States Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho; United States Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas, author of the Eighteenth Amendment; United States Senator William B. McKinley, of Illinois; Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes; Andrew J. Volstead, of Minnesota, author of the Volstead act; and Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

The attempt on the Premier was to have been made yesterday during Mussolini's speech at the Austro-Italian conference and the weapons secured for the assassination was a rifle of great precision, equipped with an especially accurate range finder.

The police have taken into custody a man named Zamboni. He was located in a hotel near the balcony from which Mussolini spoke. The attempt was to be made at 9 o'clock when the Premier appeared on the balcony which was in a direct line with Zamboni's window.

Zamboni had arrived at the hotel at 6 a. m. but had registered under another name.

Zamboni was able to cover his movement somewhat by the fact that being Armistice day he could wear the uniform without exciting suspicion while appearing to be only one of the great throng of war veterans assembled to hear the premier's declarations.

Zamboni, a socialist, was formerly a deputy.

The police had an advance tip that the attempt would be made while Mussolini was speaking from the Chigi Palace balcony.

Zamboni explained he had secured the Austrian rifle and range finder because of its better quality and accuracy.

BENHAM, HARRISON PREPARING APPEALS FROM PEN SENTENCES

Benham Draws Seven And Harrison Six Years For Fraud

Columbus, O., Nov. 5.—Appeals were prepared today by William G. Benham and Dwight Harrison, former R. L. Dollings officials convicted of using the mails to defraud and sentenced to seven and six years respectively at Atlanta penitentiary.

Counsel for the two men who were accused specifically of fraudulent selling stock of the International Note and Mortgage Company, a Dolling subsidiary said the appeals would be carried to the circuit court of appeals.

The sentences were handed out by Federal Judge Hickenlooper, yesterday and were the outgrowth of a second trial. Both men were convicted at a previous trial and sentenced to 20 years.

Their appeals to the appellate court were sustained on a technicality, however and a new trial ordered.

Benham and Harrison were given thirty days in which to perfect the new appeal and were released under the old bonds. Judge Hickenlooper denied a motion to quash the convictions and for a new trial.

Benham was also fined $4,000.

CHILDREN'S HOME WILL BE PROBED

Canton, O., Nov. 5.—Prosecutor McClintock of Stark County today began an investigation of affairs at the Fairmount Children's Home, following the ousting of Supt. E. E. Webb by commissioners of Stark and Columbiana counties last night.

Webb has announced he will fight his removal before the state civil service commission.

Webb was sentenced to serve 60 days in the workhouse, a year ago, on a charge of beating an inmate of the home with a horsewhip. He was asked to resign by the commissioners. When he refused they removed him.

Before starting to serve his workhouse sentence Webb was pardoned by Gov. Donahy and was restored to superintendency of the home.

Charges and counter charges have been hurled frequently since.

The commissioners charged Webb was "inefficient and incompetent."

James R. Milner, employee of the home will have temporary charge, the commissioners said.

UNITED STATES OUT DISTANCED IN AIR COMMERCE COMMITTEE REPORTS

Washington, Nov. 5.—The United States is being outdistanced in development of commercial aviation by all other important nations despite the fact that conditions here are the most favorable in the world for such development, Secretary of Commerce Hoover's special committee on aviation reported today.

Results of the committee's six months investigation of aviation all over the world made public today contained recommendations for withdrawal from government participation in non-military flying such as air mail, establishment of a bureau of civil aeronautics in the commerce department and government department aid to private airplane industry.

A highly optimistic view of the future of American aviation was taken by the report saying "there is no doubt that under really favorable conditions, its great possibilities will be realized."

State legislation authorizing cities to acquire landing fields is strongly recommended.

Public support of the program was urged through careful consideration of aviation investments and modified insurance rates. The government was asked to make available its landing fields for commercial fliers under proper regulations.

Ratification, with reservations, of the International Air Navigation Convention which has been approved by most of the important nations, was suggested as an immediate necessity.

SYRIAN REBELS ARE ATTACKING FRENCH CLOSE BY DAMASCUS

London, Nov. 5.—The Jerusalem correspondent of the Jewish Telegraph Agency reported today that Syrian rebels are fighting the French on the slopes of Mount Hermon and at El Kuneitrah to the southwest of Damascus.

The Druse tribesmen, it was indicated by the destruction of a rail line south of Damascus aimed at attacking Damascus.

In view of this threat to the city—apparently a measure of retaliation for the recent French bombardment of the city—moves are being made at Damascus and reinforcements are being sent from Beirut.

Daily Mail advices from Damascus supported the reports as to the Druse intentions, declaring that four thousand of the tribesmen are mobilizing only 15 miles south of Damascus. The French were reported as lacking in troops that they tried to conscript Kurds and others as defenders of the city.

The mail correspondent told of going by train to Beirut under the escort of a band of brigands now in government pay.

He pictured an "uncontrollable spirit of rebellion" throughout the country.

Meantime the Morning Post Representative in Damascus cabled that there had been fighting on the rim of Damascus between the French and a band of Druse and rebels. Artillery was called into play and while the results of the action were not known, clearly in Damascus, it was related that no enemy elements had entered the city.

This cablegram mentioned the cutting of a railway to the south of Damascus while to the north all communication was severed and the situation was reported growing worse.

Cairo messages to the Exchange Telegraph claimed the French are preparing a punitive expedition against the rebels whose ranks are growing constantly through the adherence of refugees.

POLICE ARREST MAN ARMED FOR ATTEMPT ON LIFE OF PREMIER

Masons and Socialists Under Fire After Plot Found

Rome, Nov. 5.—The police today reported they had discovered a plot to shoot Premier Mussolini.

Following the discovery of the plot Mussolini ordered all Masonic Lodges to be occupied by the Military and the Unitarian Socialist party to be disbanded.

Mussolini, as leader of the fascist of Italy has been in conflict for some time with the Masonic Lodges and has desired their elimination. Suppression of the socialists is in line with his policy of sweeping aside opposition.

He has said force was right when necessary for the achievement of ideals.

The Fascist and the Masons were reported recently to have had several clashes.

The attempt on the Premier was to have been made yesterday during Mussolini's speech at the Austro-Italian conference and the weapons secured for the assassination was a rifle of great precision, equipped with an especially accurate range finder.

The police have taken into custody a man named Zamboni. He was located in a hotel near the balcony from which Mussolini spoke. The attempt was to be made at 9 o'clock when the Premier appeared on the balcony which was in a direct line with Zamboni's window.

MASONIC SOCIAL ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD

Tuesday evening marked the initiation of the new Masonic Temple, formerly the Roberts Villa, into the social world when more than one hundred and fifty guests, members of the Masonic and Eastern Star Order and their families assembled at a Halloween masque and bazaar.

The high ceilinged rooms of the villa, with their hand carved mantles and highly polished mirrors were artistically decorated with Halloween tokens. The spacious drawing room and main library had been cleared and thrown open for the dancers. The orchestra was seated in a small room adjoining the library.

In the main hall were erected booths, draped and bound with orange and black crepe paper with festoons of black cats and witches forming a canopy overhead. Pumpkin pies, gingerbreads, cookies, sandwiches, doughnuts and cider were served here. The committee in charge of the refreshment booth was composed of Mrs. Howard Norris, chairman, Mrs. A. C. Lynn, Mrs. Edward Meahl, Mrs. Glenn Beach, Mrs. A. L. Regan, Mrs. Fred Barr and Mrs. Frank Land. In the alcove behind the orchestra was another booth, where home-made candies were available. Presiding at this booth were the Misses Ivah Laycock, Margaret Regan and Mabel McCoy.

The evening's festivities opened with a general get-together when guests went on an inspection tour of the new temple. Later, music furnished by the Harmony Kings Orchestra, lured dancers to the floor where a grand march featured the program.

Another amusing feature of the evening's entertainment was a ghostly tale, "The Death of Uncle Oley" told by Mrs. J. C. Denham, who was in characteristic garb. Guests were ushered through unexpected hallways and dark winding stairs by a ghost, to a room on the second floor that was dimly lit by a blue light. When the guests were seated in a circle, they were given a sheet to hold with the left hand and the lights were extinguished when the weird tale of the death was unfolded. Mrs. Denham was assisted by her daughter, Miss Lucille.

Much credit for the success of the affair must be given the committee in charge, composed of Mrs. C. L. Babb, general chairman, Mr. L. S. Banes, Mr. Fred Barr, Mrs. H. E. Schmidt, Mrs. Allie Taylor, Mrs. Glenn Beach, Miss Florence Mitchell and Mrs. Howard Norris.

Quite a few out-of-town guests were at the affair.

COMPLETE RETURNS MAKE NO CHANGE IN ELECTION RESULTS

Complete but unofficial returns for the forty-seven precincts in the county show that Greene County voters administered a crushing defeat to the three proposed amendments to the constitution at Tuesday's election.

Complete unofficial returns from thirty-three precincts show that incumbents on the county education board won re-election by even a greater majority than was first thought. W. B. Bryson, J. E. Hastings and A. E. Fisher were found to have increased their winning plurality over unsuccessful candidates when returns from the seven missing precincts were tabulated.

Complete returns for the county on the proposed state amendments shows the measures lost by a vote of nearly two to one.

The first amendment, a proposal to write the Griswold limitation law into the state constitution met decisive defeat by a majority of about 1,100. The vote in the county was: Yes—2,230; No—3,390.

The classification amendment, a proposal to modify the uniform rule in taxation, went under by about 1,100 votes. It was defeated by a vote of 2,136 for and 3,271 against.

The third amendment, "the term extender," a proposal to extend the terms of officials of both state and county offices from two to four years, was given the hardest blow of all in Greene County, losing by more than

2 Kinds

The Mother's Oats you have always known and Quick Mother's Oats—cooks in 3 to 5 minutes

THE one thing to remember in buying oats is that Quick Mother's Oats has the flavor you want. The difference is great.

Oats, originally a Scotch dish, must have a certain Scotch flavor. There's real Scotch tang to that Mother's Oats flavor. No other brand has it. None successfully imitates it. It's due to exclusive Mother's Oats milling of the finest, plumpest oats. Milling methods which took some 50 years to perfect.

Makes all the difference in the world. Quick Mother's Oats spoils folks for ordinary oats. Cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. No kitchen muss busy mornings. Faster than plain toast.

Due to Mother's Oats milling methods it supplies, too, the "roughage" you need to make laxatives seldom necessary.

Mitzi has a new coat of golden brown with a wide collar and revers of leopard skin. Mitzi has a velvet hat of brown to match the coat. Mitzi has a string of new pearl beads—a double choker string. Mitzi has also a certain amount of curiosity about the Mysterious Stranger who has been

The Goofer, called into consultation on the matter, thinks it an occasion for petty larceny. Since it is to be presumed that the Stranger is fairly familiar with Mitzi's features by now, it is the Goofer who knocks on the studio door and ask if Mr. Smith lives there while Mitzi borrows his stick to angle for the sketches on the drawing board. It seems odd that anyone with a guilty conscience should work so near an open window. Perhaps the secret is not a sinister one. Polly is very much afraid it will not be—Mitzi hopes for the best.

ON OUR COLLEGES.

TIME was when all college men were thought superior—for the most part objectionably so, says the New York Times in a recent editorial.

Those placed in authority over them tended to regard them as equals—equals, that is, in superiority. It was one of the paradoxes of the nineteenth century democracy. In point of fact, distinctions were awarded at graduation—cum, magna cum and summa cum laude; honors in this and that. But by and large a degree was without degrees; a sheepskin was a sheepskin. If by chance the normal college man found a frill on it, he said with King Claudius, "My offense is rank." Since the war all this has been rapidly changing. It is not merely that democratic dogma is questioned, emphasis shifting to distinction, to leadership. Basically the new situation is economic, administrative. While endowments are stationary, or actually declining when measured in living costs, the undergraduate body is swelling to a deluge. In the generation since 1890 the increase is 500 per cent. From all sides it is reported that for the most part it is "poor student material." If the colleges are to maintain their standards, let alone raise them, they must separate sheep and goats.

This is the burden of a significant article by Charles Franklin Thwing in School and Society—significant first of all for the pains it takes to develop the fact of inequalities. It appears that the new mental tests have a peculiar virtue. Through generations students have been graded by percentage—one hundred varieties of superiority—and yet the democratic dogma did not budge. The mental tests arrived with the war, when the importance of sheer ability and leadership was keenly felt, and thereafter they were seized upon as a means of summary judgment upon the inferior student. The fact remains that the best and only adequate judgment is that rendered by a teacher adept at revelatory questions of all sorts, sensitive to personal contacts, and with an inborn love of true excellence.

This, one gathers, is Dr. Thwing's conclusion. He is strong for the young man worthy of the great privilege of academic freedom; strong for the close contact between teacher and taught which, first developed in the tutorial system of the English universities, is steadily gaining ground here; strong for the well-organized honors course and for the honors examination which deserves the respect of the student and is a valuable distinction in after life. He is strongest of all for the teacher of might. "Great scholars in 'teachers' chairs are good. Great teachers in teachers' chairs are better. Great characters who are also great teachers are best, supremely best." It is little less than a national misfortune that faculties are overworked and underpaid, that students both superior and inferior multiply and swarm. "Here is a letter received by the President of Leland Stanford from a young Chinaman:

I came from China last August to get an education. I had supposed that to get an education you had to have a place to sit down. I have had no place to sit down. Can you give me a place to sit down?

What chance has teacher or taught? There is only one answer, and is in the nature of a psychological test.

WHY STUDY HISTORY?

THE time is coming—and the sooner the better—when the small boy's plaintive "aw, what's the use o' studying all this stuff" will not arouse a vague query of what, indeed, is the use, in the mind of his elders. In the case of history, at least, results will be extremely practical, as well as merely disciplining the mind—and keeping the same small boy out of mischief during certain hours of the day.

Since history was first recorded, nations have arisen and fallen. They have risen when they have observed certain laws of growth, and they have fallen when they have disregarded them. Over and over again, in dizzy succession, wars have appeared, provoked by the same causes, and preceded by the same succession of events. Modern business is falling into the same lines that characterized the guild system of the Middle Ages. In spite of tremendous contributions to knowledge that are constantly being made, history continues placidly and irresistibly to repeat itself, with the same successes and the same mistakes.

There must be certain elements of worth in these historical movements or they would not be recurring again and again. There must be danger signals on the paths that lead to disaster. The statesman must be quick to recognize both in a careful study of history, and hasten to apply them to the problem of the day in an eminently practical way. Then there will be no question as to why history is studied.

Christmas is not so very many weeks away and many of my Reader Friends are at this moment trying to think of pretty fancywork articles to make for gifts. Here are some late "wrinkles" which I have seen in city shops:

Bunny Head Coat Hangers: These were hangers for children's clothes, consisting of ordinary wood hangers with a wire hook, the wood part covered with a ribbon (padded beneath with cotton.) The wire part was wound with baby ribbon to match the other ribbon and then decorated on either side with a flat cardboard disc three inches in diameter, covered with ribbon on which had been embroidered a rabbit's eyes, nose, mouth and whiskers. Two ears were made from loops of ribbon sewed to these discs. Of course the curved top of the ribbon-wound wire hook extended a little above the bunny heads. Every child loves articles suggesting some animal, and these would make most appropriate Christmas presents for the little tot of any age—from infancy to 12 years.

The Double Gift: The practise of

SCIATIC NEURITIS

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pain which shoots down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, all pain and soreness. Continue until the Neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and rest in comfort once again. Sayre and Hemphill keeps Allenhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.—Adv.

giving two gifts at once in some way which combines the two articles naturally, is growing in popularity. This is especially true of the handkerchief-gift. I have lately seen a little sachet bag of doubled lavender georgette, filled with dried sweet lavender and tied at top with lavender ribbon, placed in the middle of a fine handkerchief, the ends of the handkerchief being brought up over the sachet and tied together with more ribbon—thus forming another bag over the sachet bag. Then there is the handkerchief tied to a gift-bracelet. And the handkerchief tied around a string o' beads. A woman can teach herself to make a dainty handkerchief by merely studying the new styles in the stores.

Button Cuff-Links: These are most useful to the boy or to the girl who wears sports blouses with turn-back cuffs over her sweater cuffs. To make a pair of button links, buy four buttons—the kind which have a wire shank on one side only (not the kind that have holes through them.) I, personally, like flat, square buttons for this purpose. But choose any shape, color or design you wish. To make the "link" between each pair of buttons, use heavy silk, winding it around on itself so as to form a stout cord.

RESPONSIBILITY

No matter how big or strong you may be physically, you aren't a man or a woman until you have learned how to handle responsibility.

I know people who bend over, and who actually strain themselves trying to carry responsibility. I know others who stand straight and walk forward, unafraid and unworried, glad of the chance to bear a big load.

You really don't know a man until you test him with responsibility.

The trouble that lies at the core of most of our social irregularities today can be traced to this one thing of shifted responsibility. It is the rule rather than the exception to "pass the buck" to get someone else to carry our load for us.

The strong man welcomes responsibility and glories as it is turned over to him.

This world is sick for Rowans—men who will step up, take their message, ask no questions, quietly bow, and be off to deliver that message to "Garcia."

There is a feeling abroad that somehow responsibility brings worries, weakens the strength of a man, cheats him of a rebounding youth. Nothing can be more false. Responsibility, properly saddled and handled, cures weak backs and broadens the shoulders of any man.

No one wants to set forth on an important journey unless he takes something with him to deliver at some far off point which is going to be of benefit to someone else.

The happiest folk I know and the healthiest, are those who have long borne large responsibilities and whistled along the way with them on their backs.

I am not troubled over whether I am going to Heaven or not. The only thing that concerns me is what I am going to deliver if I get there. At the present time I am believing that Heaven is here and now.

I am wondering if a man's highest responsibility isn't just doing what he does do better than it has ever been done before.

SINGERS PLEASE BIG AUDIENCE AT XENIA CHURCH WEDNESDAY

Outstanding among the occasional musical treats presented in Xenia, were the Royal Welsh Singers, who delighted a large audience at the First Presbyterian Church, Wednesday evening.

The repertoire of the Welsh singers was a departure from the usual musical program and was thoroughly appreciated. Three members of the company were graciously received and delighted their hearers. Madame Gwladys Cutter, soprano who sang her numbers with a high clear voice, of striking sweetness, added Xenia admirers of good music to her following. Her manner added to her charm. In her native country she is counted as one of the leading artists and she was received with acclaim during a brief visit to Wales last year. She has made a reputation over America as well as the British Isles.

Her program opened with "Ah! For a Lull" by Verdi. Her other solos were "Nant Y Mynydd" Welsh song and "I Would Weave A Song" by Haydn Wood.

D. Edgar Davies, baritone, substantiated his reputation as being one of the greatest vocalists ever brought to this country. As a "national" winner in Wales, he has obtained the highest achievement possible to his art. His splendid voice was brought out to its full beauty in "There's A Land," and "Tom O'Devon." In the second part of the program he gave "Yr Ornest" by Davies and "The Lord Is My Light" by Allittsen.

Madame Cutter and Mr. Davies formed a duet for "The Voyagers," "Somewhere a Voice is Calling" and "In the Garden of Roses," by Sanderson.

The trio was completed with Miss Irene Selby, concert pianist and reader. Miss Selby, a strikingly unusual artist, opened the program with "Prelude in C Sharp Minor" by Rachmaninoff. She next appeared in "A Model Letter," by Tarkington, a charming reading, and her second reading in the first part of the program was a parody of Kipling's "If."

She also opened the second part of the program with "Rono Capriccio," by Mendelssohn and gave a selected reading before the closing number by Madame Cutter and Mr. Davies.

SUPERINTENDENT OF DAYTON DISTRICT OF M. E. CHURCHES DIES

The Rev. E. O. Crist, Dayton, for the last four years superintendent of the Ohio M. E. Churches, in which Xenia and Greene County are located, died at White Cross Hospital, Columbus, Wednesday night.

He became suddenly ill October 28, while attending a Methodist Church conference at Columbus and was immediately removed to the hospital, where his condition became steadily worse from organic trouble. An acute attack of Bright's Disease hastened death.

His wife, Kate M. Crist, was at his bedside when he passed away.

Dr. Crist graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University in 1896 and became united to the Central Ohio conference of M. E. Churches in 1898. In 1899 he was assigned to Anna, O., serving there until 1903. His next post was at Hardin, O., where he remained a year and was then sent to Quincy, O., where he remained until 1908, before answering a call to Findlay, O., where he remained until 1912.

For four years he was superintendent of the Toledo district of the Ohio M. E. Church and was then appointed secretary and treasurer of the Flower Methodist Hospital and Deacons home at Toledo. He then went to Defiance, O., and was located in Cincinnati until he was appointed superintendent of the Dayton district in 1922.

He is survived by his widow; one daughter, Mrs. Mabel Williamson, Cincinnati and two sons, William Crist of Miami, Fla., and Harry Crist, of Toledo, O.

The body will be removed to Dayton for funeral services at Grace M. E. Church at 10:30 o'clock, Friday morning. It is planned to have the body lie in state at the church until the hour of the funeral. Burial will be made in Toledo.

Dr. Crist has appeared in Xenia several times and is well known to Xenia audiences.

Dr. F. W. Stanton, pastor of the First M. E. Church, said Thursday morning in reference to Dr. Crist's death: "As chairman of Greene County Methodist, I voice regret at the passing of Dr. Crist, our district superintendent. He has been faithful as a minister, executive and brother. Personally, we have known him for twenty-five years and a more delightful brother we have never known."

"He will be greatly missed from the conference, particularly by the Dayton district. Just who his successor may be cannot be suggested."

SUIT FOR DAMAGES FILED BY MARSHAL AGAINST CONSTABLE

William A. Schneider, marshal of Osborn, has brought suit in Common Pleas Court against Sidney M. Cornelius, constable of Bath Township, for $5,000 damages, alleged he was assaulted by the defendant Tuesday, November 3, and sustained wounds to his lip and face that will cause his disfigurement for life.

Schneider claims Cornelius struck him several blows in the face with a revolver cutting his lip and right cheek in such a manner as to require several stitches to close the wound.

The marshal required the services of a surgeon and medical attention and as a result of the injuries will be unable to attend to his business for a period of two weeks, the petition recites. Attorney Marcus Shoup, represents the plaintiff.

The suit was brought simultaneously with the filing of charges of resisting an officer and assault and battery against Schneider by Cornelius. Schneider was bound over to Probate Court Wednesday by R. O. Copey, justice of the peace.

The charges and damage suit arose following an alleged fight between the marshal and constable on election night. Both were opposing candidates for constable of Bath township and marshal of the village and Schneider won the election.

Trouble between the officers was said to have arisen when Cornelius placed two men under arrest for a liquor violation. He said Schneider interfered. Cornelius knocked him insensible, brought him to Xenia, locked him up in the County Jail and after he was released, filed charges against him.

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important and one of the most important things for her to do is to use a non-irritating, safe, penetrating lubricant to keep the skin, muscles and ligaments soft and pliable—thus aiding the ease and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood.

Mother's Friend is just such a preparation. It is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend has saved thousands of expectant mothers from much useless suffering. It relieves those drawing, stretching pains so common during expectancy.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. 21, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

MARSHAL SCHNEIDER ARRAIGNED HERE ON CHARGES BOUND OVER

Marshal William Schneider, of Osborn, consented to be bound over to Probate Court on separate charges of neglecting an officer and assault and battery when he appeared before R. O. Copey, justice of the peace, Wednesday afternoon. He was released under a total of $1,500 bond.

The charges were placed against Schneider after the marshal was alleged to have become involved in a fight with Sidney M. Cornelius, constable of Bath Township, as an aftermath of the election Tuesday night.

Cornelius alleged Schneider interfered when he attempted to arrest two men for liquor violation. The pair was under arrest and Cornelius was in possession of the liquor when Schneider appeared and declared "You can't arrest these men." It is alleged.

Cornelius struck the officer in the mouth with the butt of his pistol inflicting a deep cut and rendering him unconscious. He then placed the marshal under arrest, brought him to Xenia and locked him up in the County Jail from where he was later released by Sheriff Morris Sharp.

Schneider was unable to appear in court Wednesday morning because of his injury but voluntarily appeared before Squire Copey in the afternoon without a warrant for his arrest being served.

Affidavits are signed by Constable Cornelius. It is alleged the trouble arose after Schneider had defeated Cornelius, his opponent for election as marshal of the village and constable of Bath Township, in Tuesday's voting.

ADVERTISING CURE OF MARKETING ILLS SAYS GRANGE CHIEF

Advertising, more advertising and still more advertising was prescribed by Louis J. Tabor, grand master of the National Grange and former director of agriculture of Ohio, now residing at Columbus, as one of the most important cures for the marketing ills of the farmers of America. Grand Master Tabor gave the prescription while addressing the annual picnic of the Co-operative Pure Milk Association, an organization of 3,500 dairy farmers of the counties of southern Ohio and Indiana and Northern Kentucky, held at the Cincinnati Zoo recently.

"Farmers must learn to organize, merchandise, standardize and advertise," said Mr. Tabor. "And I want to stress this one point and say the greatest of these for this present time is advertising. I believe one of the greatest needs of the farmers today is the practice of a larger use of printers' ink. Advertising has made millions out of scores of merchants, and manufacturers. It has strengthened every kind of financial and industrial institution that has practiced it consistently. I think it is high time that the farmers made use of it in a judicious manner. It will yield big dividends to all organized farmers."

"Dairy farmers most of all need to sell the public in a convincing manner that they have the best and purest milk, the freshest of country eggs and that their butter is better than most of their competitors. The farm organizations have a right to win the confidence of their fellow citizens for last year, through co-operative marketing more than $2,000,000,000 worth of farm products were sold."

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use for only 75 cents. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

"Bobbed Hair"

A DAZZLING MYSTERY STORY BY TWENTY FAMOUS AUTHORS

SYNOPSIS

Connemara Moore was to announce her engagement tonight—either to Bingham Carrington or Saltonstall Cabot Adams—or be disinherited by her aunt. But instead of being in auntie's Connecticut home Connemara is now at the edge of the sound about to board a ferry for Long Island with David Lacy, whom she saw for the first time only an hour or so ago. It's a foggy, stormy night—a great night for bootleggers—as the ferryman has just observed. Back home, auntie, Bing and Salt are all scurrying.

CHAPTER IV—Continued

Bing would have died rather than let his eyes follow Miss Celimena's to the slow-moving hands of the old clock, but all the same he knew at the precise instant she did when they pointed, after centuries had passed, to five minutes of twelve.

Whether the entire, queerly garbed assemblage had been watching the clock also, there are, of course, no means of knowing, but the fact remains that there was a sudden, concerted halt of the dancers, and—after a straggling diminuendo wail from the blaring saxophone, and an uncertain thump or two from the drums—the orchestra followed their example and fell into abrupt and motionless silence.

A hundred pairs of eyes were turned expectantly from one entrance of the ballroom to the other, in search of a slim, straight little figure in the white robes of a Dominican Sister, minus the veil and head covering, coming to end the evening's play with the all-important announcement.

Poppy Glenn in particular, seemed unusually nervous, twisting her

"If Connemara bobbed her hair it meant she was engaged to me?"

pretty neck to crane inquisitively over first one plump bare shoulder and then the other in her efforts to keep both doors in sight at the same time.

A full minute ticked itself away laboriously, and the strain grew. There were stifled giggles here and there in the room, and an impatient tapping of high heels that had the restless, staccato tempo of castanets.

Then, suddenly, as if in response to his cue, in the right-hand doorway appeared the stately figure of Judson, Miss Celimena's white-headed butler, carrying a small tissue-paper package in his hands.

And with the eyes of the room upon him, straight up to Saltonstall Cabot Adams went Judson, as unhurried and matter-of-course as though about to announce that dinner was served, and laid the package in Salt's astonished hand.

"Miss Connemara told me early this evening I was to deliver it at midnight, sir," quoth Judson, and his part played, departed discreetly.

Bing with his face as white as Saltonstall's was scarlet, held his chin high by sheer instinct of pride, for, like the other man, he was past conscious analysis of his actions.

Poppy, who happened to be beside Salt, leaned forward with impatient assurance and read aloud the clear black handwriting of the package's superscription:

"Saltonstall Cabot Adams, Esq.
According to Agreement,
Constance Mary Moore,
June 30th, 12 p. m.

"My gracious, but she's being legal and exact. Congratulations, Salt, old top! Now hurry and open it up!"

It is probable, so great was Miss Glenn's curiosity and eagerness, that if her suggestion had not been promptly acted upon by the successful suitor, she would have snatched the little package out of his hand and opened it then and there herself.

But, recovering somewhat from his astonishment at the girl's energetic command, Salt ripped off the silver ribbon tied about the small, limp white bundle, and rather cautiously began to unroll the paper covering.

A little gasp of released breaths went up about him as a long, silky something, sinuous as if actually alive, warmly red—no, auburn, excuse us, Connemara—with surface sheen of gold where the light touched it, lay across his open palm, the discarded tissue-paper wrapping slipping to the floor at his feet. A thick, deliciously curling lock of Connemara's famous hair, clipped off by vandal shears, and then romantically and daintily tied up in tissue paper and silver ribbons and sent to her lover, for all the world like the heroines of picturesque but out-of-date days when Knighthood was in flower.

And Connemara the most up-to-the-minute and rebellious of moderns too! Still, it undoubtedly was a dramatic touch and went rather well with the fantastic costumes of the audience.

They broke into a storm of applause that was almost hysterical in its relief at the ending of the strain. And Salt, carried out of his usual grave pomposity of manner by this proof of his triumph, forgot that he hated the limelight, and actually had made a stiff little speech before he could stop himself.

"Ladies and Gentlemen," he said seriously—"Ladies and Gentlemen, it has been, very fittingly, left to me by Miss Connemara Moore to make the evening's anticipated and happy announcement."

After which he went on and made it, formally, correctly, as one who was at once a Saltonstall, a Cabot, and an Adams might be expected to do, and it was neither a bad enough nor good enough speech to be remembered ten minutes after he made it by anyone present, if it had not been for the unforeseen denouement just before the next to the last sentence as he had it outlined in his mind.

Somebody's very muscular hand closed unexpectedly on Salt's arm, and spun him right about face with a suddenness that jarred his teeth together violently.

The voice of Bing Carrington, entirely shorn of its lazy Virginian drawl, fell in furious accents upon the close and startled air of the packed ballroom.

"How in thunder," it inquired with ominous restraint, "do you get that way? Didn't you take in the very plainly expressed agreement that if Connemara bobbed her hair it meant she was engaged to me?"

With a quick gesture he snatched the auburn lock from the other's hand, and held it aloft before all the eyes.

"Well?" demanded young Mr. Carrington, his chin up at least an inch and a half as he faced the room with his challenge.

"Why—why?" It was Poppy Glenn, on the verge of hysterics from sheer excitement. "That was the agreement. Of course it was, Bing!"

Stunned silence—broken giggles—a circle of staring eyes—

"I," said Bing, in his most magnificent manner, which could be very magnificent indeed when he had an occasion to rise to, "have the honor of announcing, for Miss Moore and myself, our engagement." His eyes gleamed with reckless laughter that picked up answering smiles, warm and friendly, from those nearest him. "I'm waiting for congratulations, everybody, and it'll take a darn lot of them to make up for what I went through when old Judson marched over and handed Salt that package," he wound up in an ingeniously youthful outburst.

"Perhaps you can explain why, in that remarkable eventuality," Salt asked icily, "Connemara sent the package to me?"

"To let you know you were out of it, of course," Bing Carrington said, with easy assurance, still holding on to Connemara's disputed curl. "And possibly, too, because she's a generous, warm-hearted child who's sorry to hurt anyone, she sent it to you for a little keepsake to remember her by. Perfectly natural and simple thing to reason out for any one who understands Connie Moore." He shrugged, as if finished with the subject forever.

Sutton Twins Bust Vest Buttons!

For several weeks they have been going so fast they never had time to light but last Tuesday, Verne had a bad cold and had to stay in the office so he spent the time figuring' dope. At 9 o'clock in the morning he had come in the office with a headache, five handkerchiefs, a couple of cuspidors and a pint measure of Bromo Quinine. At 10:30 a. m. he had found out that his automobile business had increased 542 percent over 1924!

At 10:35 a. m. he was out on the street selling cars to perfect strangers! His cold was gone, he'd thrown away the Bromo, three handkerchiefs and was using the curb for a cuspidor. At noon all his vest buttons were gone, only 2 shirt buttons were left and even they were under terrific strain!

Can you blame him? Five and a half times more business than 1924!

No editorial this week—watch NEXT week's paper.

Shorty Says:

"Corn" is the keynote of Mack's party, so I've been practicing making corn cakes for a week. Mack and Beal wanted me to serve fried chicken, gravy, mashed potatoes, cider and buttermilk, but I haven't been able to catch any. Anyway fried chicken dinners are dangerous. There's a law against folks borrowing chickens for parties. Mackotta know that himself, being a Sheriff as often as he has.

Between Mack's party and Doc Sayre's One Cent Sale, this is going to be a big month look like.

Pale, Tired Mothers Should Beware of Chronic Fatigue

Many a discouraged mother thinks that her thin, pale, tired-out condition is due to exhausting housework and care of children—when as a matter of fact the real cause of all her distressing ailments is chronic fatigue.

Don't confuse chronic fatigue with the ordinary fatigue you feel after a good long walk. Chronic fatigue comes from within. Your organs and muscles have become debilitated due to lack of sufficient organic iron in your blood.

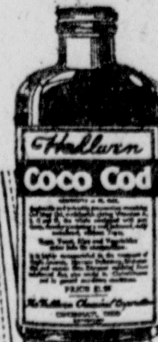

To conquer chronic fatigue you must strengthen your system by restoring this organic iron to your blood. But don't take the older mineral iron medicines which many doctors now say do little good. Take organic iron—Nuxated Iron—which is like the iron in your blood and like that in spinach and lentils. Unlike ordinary mineral iron it will not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach, but is promptly assimilated.

Take Nuxated Iron for just two weeks and you'll be astonished how much stronger and better you feel. Money back if not improved. All good druggists.
